

"The twentieth century has been characterized by three developments of great political importance: the growth of democracy, the growth of corporate power, and the growth of corporate propaganda as a means of protecting corporate power against democracy."

- Alex Carey

from "Taking The Risk Out of Democracy"

(Another mini-poster from PaulCienfuegos.com. Collect them all!)